Kennedy Extension vs. Argonaut

The taking of depositions in this damage suit was commenced in the superior court last Monday before Judge Wood, C. H. Lindley and W. J. Do you know that croup can be prevented? Give Chamberlain's cough remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It is also a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail. Sold by all dealers.

New Safe for Bank of Amador.

The Bank of Amador county has just received a new fire and burglar proof safe of the very latest improved make. It is of hardened steel, and is claimed to be dynamite proof. It is a Diebold make, and was made in Canton, Ohio. It is provided with double time lock, and inside the safe proper there is another steel chamber with another time lock. The safe weighs 2½ tons, and cost $1750. It will be placed in the bank vault, on top of the old safe. The additional safe capacity was made necessary by the rapidly growing business of the bank.

An attack of the grip is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves great annoyance. Chamberlain's cough remedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and cure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after all other remedies had failed. Sold by all dealers.

The Seized Brandy.

Two United States internal revenue officers came up Tuesday on business concerning the seizure of the large quantity of illicit brandy on the Molino place last week. The officials were B. B. Hanson, chief deputy in the internal revenue office in Sacramento, and the special agent who made the descent upon the buried liquor out in the woods as detailed last week. They went up to the Molino ranch Wednesday. The liquor seized consists of seven barrels, each barrel containing not less than 52 gallons. The brandy is said to be considerably over proof, gauging 120 so it is said. According to current rumor the tax on this brandy at $1.10 per gallon would amount to about $700. It seems that the moonshine plan was revealed to the revenue officers through two informers, acting jointly—John Hosenfelt and J. Thornburg, who live in that vicinity. They obtained their clew through the instrumentality of an employee on the Molino ranch. The government pays a certain percentage of the penalty collected from illicit distillers to the parties furnishing the information. In this case this reward will probably foot up a snug little sum. The brandy is still stored on the Read premises in charge of Robert Read jr. This is the biggest seizure of illicit spirits that has been made in this county for many years.

Borello Case Affirmed.

The appeal case of Agostino Borello, who was convicted of arson in setting fire to the Summit house on Sutter hill over two years ago, and sentenced to ten years in San Quentin, has been affirmed by the appellate court. The text of the decision has not been received as yet, but is expected in a few days. Borello has been held in the county jail under a writ of probable cause ever since his conviction pending the decision of the higher court. He will now be taken to the state prison to serve out this sentence as soon as the remittitur is received from the court of appeals. Sixty days is the maximum allowed for the transmission of the remittitur to the trial court, so that within that time the county will be relieved of the further care and support of the convicted incendiary. He is at the present time the only prisoner confined in the county jail.

Women's Exchange.

To-morrow, February 11, the ladies' aid will have a window in S Myer's dry goods store, and will be in charge of Mrs Brown. They will have cakes, pies etc. Call and see them.

MINING NOTES

Bunker Hill.—A meeting of the directors was held at the mine last Saturday, all the members being present except A. Goodall. The vacancy in the board caused by the resignation of W. J. McGee was filled by the election of E. H. Harrington. The officers of the company remain the same as heretofore, W. F. Detert, president; E. H. Harrington, secretary and superintendent. A dividend of five cents per share was declared, amounting to $10,000. The output for the month of January was over $24,000—about the same as the yield of the previous month. After paying the dividend and running expenses there remains a balance of over $4,000 to be carried to the surplus fund. The ore body at the 1750 level continues to develop in great shape. It is over 9 feet wide, and its length has not yet been determined, as the end of the shoot has not been reached. The quality of the ore is fully as good as in the level above. Cutting the station at the 1950 level is being pushed ahead. It is expected to have this work completed in a few days, when drifting for the ledge will be pressed forward with all possible speed. From six weeks to two months must elapse before the main ledge is reached at this level. It will then be in order to determine its character and extent, which will probably take about two months more. Little doubt is entertained that the ore body will hold its own at this depth, but the policy of the management is to ascertain by actual development work before proceeding to double the capacity of the mill.

South Eureka.—On the first of the month W. H. Schmal of Angels took charge as superintendent of this mine in place of Bayliss Clark, resigned. Mrs Schmal and daughter Florence left Angels on Friday last to make their home in Sutter Creek. Mr Schmal has been superintendent of the Lightner mine in Angels Camp, and in that capacity has had large experience with mother lode mining. Mr Davis, who has been foreman at this mine, has been succeeded by the former foreman of the Lightner. Everything is running smoothly and prosperously as this mine. The additional 20 stamps to the mill is making satisfactory progress toward completion.

Fine Copper Prospects.—An incorporated company comprised of a few local men—Geo W. Brown, John Strohm, Vic Rocco and several others, has been prospecting on the Johnson ranch on Stony creek, about three miles southwest of Jackson for copper.

There is a strong iron cap, indicative of copper deposit, existing on the claim. This had previously been prospected to a limited extent, but not sufficiently to determine its value. The company has sunk to a depth of 90 feet, and few days ago struck the apex of the ledge, which looks very promising. The ore is six feet in thickness, and carries gold and silver values as well as copper. It is roughly estimated to carry 830 per ton in these metals, but there is every indication of a well defined ledge. Those interested feel jubilant over the prospects.

Miscellaneous.—The South Eureka for the month of January paid a dividend of four cents per share, amounting to $12,000. The ore body has been penetrated from the 2700 to the 2000 foot level, revealing the presence of good ore the entire distance.

It is pleasing to be able to state that the Fremont mine is working up to the point where dividends may be looked for. The mill is kept running to its full capacity.

At the Defender an expert from Colorado is examining the property, in the interest of other parties who are thinking of investing therein.

Business Premises Sold.

L. Vogeli, the watchmaker and jeweler, who has occupied the premises under the National hotel for many years, has purchased the building on Main street next to the Spagnoli drug store, and which has been occupied as a saloon by Opie Harper for a long time. The property belonged to the Bank of Amador county. The price is reported to be $3200, which is at the rate of about $170 per front foot, which shows that property in the business center of Jackson commands a stiff figure. Mr Vogeli has purchased the place for his jewelry store, his present quarters being far too cramped and otherwise inconvenient. He intends to put in a modern up to date front, and fix it up in every respect specially for his business. The improvements will not be started until the advent of spring.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fitch

Ma's Mean Way.

Pa has no use for suffragettes; he says that home's the place
Where woman has the chance to do most for the human race.
"Why should she want to vote?" 'says pa, 'or stand around the polls.
And let her children go to school with stockin's full of holes?
"I've got no use for women who get out and fuss and tear,
Forgettin' that they've homes to run and solemn duties there.
How many of these suffragettes who say they'll vote or die
Know how to bake a loaf of bread or make a decent pie?
"They'd better learn to stitch and hem, and let the votin' go;
The wife that wants to be a gem ain't makin' speeches—no.
She's busy where she ought to be, without no time to gad
Content to do the things she knows'll make her loved ones glad."

Ma sat and darned away awhile and then she spoke at last:
"I guess 'you're right," she said; "at least I want no vote to cast;
As long as I can give you joy by humbly slavin' here,
I'll gladly scrub and cook and darn to make you happy, dear."

Then pa got up and walked around, and kicked a chair aside—
"Yes, there you go again," he said, so mad he nearly cried;
"Nag just because I can't afford to keep you like a queen—
And stop that damin', darn it all. You just darn to be mean."

—Chicago Record-Herald.

Of Such Things
Dreams Are Made.

Perhaps the best instance of the incredibly great amount of material that may be crowded in a dream of brief duration is afforded by the authenticated case of "the man and the vase." The circumstances were as follows:
The man sat before his fire drowsily musing. A draught blowing across the room set a large photograph on the mantle above the fireplace to swaying. A slender vase stood in front of the photograph, and the man remembered wondering, in a mood of whimsical indifference, whether the picture could blow forward and send the vase to the floor.
Finally a sudden gust of wind did topple the photograph, and it struck the vase. The man remembered having been curiously relieved in his somnolent state that at last "the old thing was going to fall and be done with it."
Presently, however, he was in the midst of a complicated business transaction in a mining center a couple of thousand miles away. All the details of a new and attractive scheme were coming from lips, and a board of directors was listening with grave attention. The scheme prospered. The mining center grew to be a large city. The man moved his family west. Bits of the details of his journey thither came to mind and even circumstances connected with the construction of a fine house he had erected were brought vividly before him.
Finally a crash woke him. The vase had struck the floor. He had dreamed an unlivid life covering years, and all in the time it took the vase, which he had seen toppling before he fell asleep, to fall 5 feet and break.

Won't Need a Crutch
When editor J. P. Sossman, of Cornelius, N. C., bruised his leg badly, it started an ugly sore. Many salves and ointments proved worthless. Then Bucklen's arnica salve healed it thoroughly. Nothing is so prompt and sure for ulcers, boils, burns, bruises, cuts, corns, sores, pimples, eczema, or piles. 25 cents at Spagnoli's drug store.

Petition for
Rehearing Denied

In the case of Fred Martin on habeas corpus, recently decided by the supreme court, the attorneys for the mine owners filed a petition for a rehearing. This is the case brought to test the eight hour law as applied to miners, and in which the court sustained the constitutionality of the law. The case was heard in banc, and the decision was clear and specific, covering every point in the case, with no dissenting opinion, and when the petition for rehearing was reached the court very promptly denied the same. This will no doubt settle the controversy for a while at least.—Propcet.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA
Camille Flammarion, the noted French astronomer, says that the vaporous tail of Halley's comet will envelop the earth on May 19th.
"For several hours," he says, "We will be immersed in the gaseous caudal appendage whose chemical examination is still little known. The comet will pass directly between the sun and the world at 2 o'clock in the morning of May 19th. At that time the Pacific ocean will be in full daylight, while in France it will be night. Little danger may be expected, however, for the tail will probably be so rarified as to be inoffensive."

Prospective Industry

In an experiment to see whether the famous pipe calabash, which has proved almost as profitable as diamonds to its growers in South Africa, will thrive in Alameda county, E. M. Ritter has planted a quarter of an acre of his ranch with the seed, which he obtained from the department of agriculture. The plant produces small gourds, from which pipes are made that sell as high as $12 apiece. These gourd pipes are the lightest made for their size, are naturally graceful in shape and color like meerscham. They are pronounced by experts to be delightful smokers. Until two years ago the Boers of South Africa had a monopoly in raising the plant.
The foothills of El Dorado county should be tested in the production of the pipe calabash, and we hope some reader of this paper will give it a trial.—El Dorado Republican.

Oldest Piece of Iron.

What is claimed to be the oldest piece of iron in the world is on exhibition at the University of Pennsylvania as the result of the "Third Eckley B. Coxe Jr. Expedition to Nubia." The story of the finding of this ancient relic, as well as a host of articles of immense archaeological value, is told by Dr. David Randall-Mac-Iver, curator of the Egyptian section of the archaeological museum of the university. The iron is in the form of a spearhead. This and other relics were found in excavations made in the ancient town of Behen, about 80 miles south of Anibeh. The iron spearhead was found in a grave of the Twelfth dynasty, of the date of which scientists are not sure. Some place it as early as 2800 B. C., but others at 2000 B. C.

The Forlorn Hope.

Richard Le Gallienne was talking about his quarrel with William Watson over the latter's poem. "The Woman With the Serpent's Tongue." This quarrel, it will be remembered, at one time threatened to bring the two poets to blows.
"My quarrel with Watson," said Mr. Le Gallienne, "concerns the cruelty of his verses. They are as cruel as the remarks of old Herkimer."
"To Herkimer, an elderly widower, a lady who had rejected him said:
"But don't talk of a "forlorn hope," Mr Herkimer, because I have refused you. There must be other girls in mind who could make you happy."
"There were," snapped Herkimer—"and I asked them. You were the forlorn hope."—Los Angeles Times.

The More the Better.

A shy young man had been calling on the "sweetest girl in the world," for many moons, but being bashful his suit progressed slowly. Finally she decided it was up to her to start something, so the next time he called she pointed to the rose in the buttonhole of his coat and said:
"I'll give you a kiss for that rose."
A crimson flush spread over his countenance, but the exchange was made after some hesitation on his part. Then he grabbed his hat and started to leave the room.
"Why, where are you going?" she asked in surprise.
"To the florist for more roses," he called back from the front door.

On His Way.

A minister on his way to evening service met a rising young man of the place whom he was anxious to have become an active member of his church.
"Good evening, my friend," he said solemnly, "do you ever attend a place of worship?"
"Yes, indeed, sir; regularly, every Sunday night," replied the young man with a smile. "I'm on my way to see her now."

DANGER IN DELAY
Kidney Diseases are too Dangerous for Jackson People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy. Doan's Kidney Pills, which have cured people right here in this locality.
Henry Tabeau, 24 S. San Joaquin St., Stockton, Cal., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for a long time and in spite of the many remedies I used, I gradually grew worse. My bladder was much inflamed and the kidney secretions were highly colored, containing a sediment and the passages were attended by a burning sensation. I had severe pains across my back and could hardly stoop. My attention was finally called to Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box. I am now enjoying the best of health and give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The Ledger's Forecast

Of Incorporation

From Amador Ledger, Dec. 1, 1905.
It is estimated that the taxable property within the proposed city, according to the assessment of the county assessor, will foot up about $600,000. Reckoning the tax rate at the maximum limit of 75 cents on the $100—and we venture the opinion that if carried on the proposed lines, it will never fall below the rate—we have $4500 as the income from direct property taxes. It must be remembered there is no fixity in the present valuation of property. By this we mean, that the city assessor will not be bound by the figures of the county assessor. He can boost the assessment arbitrarily if he so pleases. And his policy on this point would be governed solely by the demands of the municipality for running expenses. If the revenue from the present valuation proves unequal to the demands, a stuffing of the assessment roll would be the first remedy resorted to. Next to the property tax, license tax would be the next heavy source of income for the support of the city administration. This tax, based on the present county schedule, would yield about $3000 per year. Like the assesment value, however, the license schedule is liable to change, to meet requirements. It is far more likely to be increased than be decreased, and many businesses now free from license imposition, would no doubt be called upon to furnish revenue. The road poll tax would perhaps yield $1000 per annum. Here we have a total of $8500. With this we would have to meet all the expenses of the city organization. To many it would seem at first blush a pretty fair income, and if the city lines were drawn compactly with a desire to economize in operating expenses, it might be adequate, without the aid of the stuffing policy, to pay actual running expenses, and leave a small margin—and a very small margin per year is the utmost that the conservative friends of incorporation would reasonably expect—for permanent improvements. As the city is laid out, however, we cannot see that one dollar would be left for permanent improvements—such as sewers and street making. The running expenses would swallow everything in sight. And in this opinion, we assume that the local government will be administered honestly and economically. We do not take the possibility of graft into consideration.
It is not difficult to figure out the proposition. As a rule the cost of government per capital varies with population and territory. A compact territory will take less for government than widely extended territory, with the same population. The state government costs over $5 per head; our county government costs nearly $10 per head. In the case of the Jackson municipality the cost of education would be cut out. This is admittedly a large item of expense. But with this eliminated, $4 per head is a low estimate of cost for a government worthy of the name. That would mean $10,000 per year.
Now let us particularize a little. That portion of the proposed city that now falls within the present townsite, and strictly residence districts includes seven miles of streets actually platted and surveyed. True some are not built on, and might not be a charge upon the city for several years. Say six miles of streets to be looked after. In addition to this strictly street mileage, we have from four to five miles of county roadway thrown in by way of ballast. Altogether, streets and roads would reach about ten miles. Now, the patchwork business pursued by the county administration on our county roads costs on an average in this supervisor district over $100 per mile every year. Such a meager sum would be completely lost sight of on our streets. It would have to be concentrated upon a mile or less to make any showing at all. Then sprinkling must be provided, and this is where the inadvisability of dragging in the essentially country roads comes in. Lighting must be provided for, furnishing another strong argument for curtailing the city within strictly residence districts. The salary question is a vital one. The county government costs over $2 per capital for salaries alone. If the city government can get along with one-half that rate, as the territory is mapped out, it would be doing tolerably well. On a low estimate this item may be expected to run from 2000 to $2500. How will this sum up.

Salary list	$2500
Streets and roads, patching	1500
Sprinkling, as at present done	1500
Water bill,	500
Lighting, without extending present area	1500
Incidentals, rent, stationery, printing, etc.	1500
Total	$9000

These are conservative figures. An actual test will increase rather than decrease them. There is no allowance here for fire protection: none for guarantining against contagious diseases and numerous other items of expense. It leaves the cost of street making and sewerage to be borne either by the property holders along the streets improved, or by the issuance of bonds.

Constables May Hold Their Jobs.

On account of an omission in the new primary law providing for the election of township constables, a grave doubt has arisen in the minds of some lawyers as to whether constables will be elected this year or not. The consensus of opinion among the legal fraternity is that incumbents will hold on to their offices until the next Legislature remedies the defects in the present election law, so far as it relates to the election of township constables.
Be this as it may, however, incumbent constables who want to hold their jobs are taking no chances, but are going right into the fight with as much vim as though their reelection were necessary. For fear that the supreme court might unravel the skein to their undoing before election day, self-protection compels constables to get into the fight in order to be on the safe side.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars or any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Summing up the situation as it stands, it shapes itself this wise: Incorporation holds out the promise of a sewer for Main street, the grading of Main street by a systematic effort, which has been entirely lacking so far. For these improvements the property holders on that street will have pay to by assessments levied according to frontage owned. In other words, they have these things by paying for them under incorporation. They can have them on the same proposition without incorporation. Again, incorporation holds out the promise of a public burial ground under official supervision and we are willing to admit this is urgently needed.
On the other hand incorporation along the present lines holds out the prospect of a new set of officials to maintain. And the entire revenue of the city will be consumed, outside of keeping up such utilities as we now enjoy, in paying the salaries of the official establishment and the incidental expenses thereunto belonging.

Eat What

You want of the food you need

Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

Decision in Serine Administration Contest

In the superior court of the state of California, in and for the county of Amador.

In the matter of the estate of Sarah A. Serine, deceased.

This is a contest for letters of administration with the will annexed of the estate of decedent.

Sarah A. Serine died on Oct. 10, 1909, a resident of the county of Amador, leaving surviving as her only heirs, her two daughters: Mrs. Carrie Tarr of Idaho, and Mrs. Nellie Werley of Alameda county, this state.

She left a last will bearing date, July 29, 1908, with a codicil thereto dated Oct. 9, 1909. By the terms of said will and codicil she bequeathed certain property to her grandchild, Ola G. Werley, who is the minor child of said Nellie Werley.

Decedent's said daughter Carrie Tarr, was named in the will as executrix, but she has declined to act as such and has in writing requested that letters of administration with the will annexed be issued to the petitioner, H. E. Potter, who is the public administrator of the county.

John H. Werley who is the guardian of the minor, Ola G. Werley, has contested the petition of Mr. Potter, and filed his own petition praying for the issuance of letters to himself.

Section 1368 code of civil procedure provides that if a person entitled to administer is a minor, letters may be granted to his or her guardian. The rights therefore of Mr. Werley to letters will be measured by those that would be accorded to Ola G. Werley were she of lawful age and here petitioning for letters in her own behalf.

Counsel for Mr. Werley have cited estate of McLaughlin 103 Cal. page 429 and estate of Engle, 124 Cal. page 292, to uphold the claim of Mr. Werley to letters. Neither of these cases however sustain his position.

All that was decided in estate of McLaughlin was that the guardian of the son of the decedent, who was the only heir to the estate, but had been adjudged an incompetent person, was entitled to letters in preference to the public administrator. The son being the only heir was by the statute entitled to letters, it was merely held that the guardian occupied the same position that the son would have occupied, had he not have been adjudged incompetent to manage his property.

In this case the mother of Ola G. Werley being living, Ola, of course is not an heir of Mrs. Serine, and by the express provisions of sec. 1365 of the code of civil procedure a relative is not entitled to letters (unless he be an heir) in preference to the public administrator.

In said estate of Engle cited by counsel, letters were issued to one Griffith, who was not an heir but was entitled to one-tenth of the estate as devisee, and the petition of the public administrator denied, but that was a foreign will and the case was decided upon authority of estate of Bergin 100 Cal. 376, where it was pointed out that the provisions relating to the appointment of an administrator with the will annexed of a foreign will were entirely different from that relating to a domestic will, and that letters upon a foreign could be granted only to a person interested in the will, and in estate of Coan 132 Cal. 403 both the cases of estate of Engle and estate of Bergin were referred to and it was shown that the public administrator was never entitled to letters upon a foreign will because the public administrator is not a person interested in the will.

Estate of Wakefield 36 Cal. page 110 seems to present features much like the case at bar.

Naomi Wakefield and her mother perished in the wreck of the steamer Rio Janeiro in the harbor of San Francisco. Naomi died first. In a contest for letters upon the estate of Naomi between the nominee of her two brothers (who became entitled to the entire estate of Naomi through the death of the mother and the public administrator, the supreme court held that the nominee of the brothers would be entitled to letters, if the brothers were entitled, but as at the moment of Naomi's death, her mother was living, her mother became Naomi's heir, and that letters should be issued to the public administrator notwithstanding that the brothers through the death of the mother might be entitled to distribution of the entire estate.

It is clear that in this case the executrix having renounced her right to letters and the decedent having died a resident of this county, the public administrator would have the prior right to letters with the will annexed as against every person excepting Mrs. Nellie Werley the mother of Ola G. but who has not petitioned for letters.

Since the hearing upon this contest for letters, my attention has been called by counsel, to a paper filed with the clerk of this court on February 4, 1910, purporting to be a request on the part of Mrs. Nellie Werley, for issuance of letters to Mr. Werley. Aside from the fact that no proof has been made of the signature attached to the paper, it would be a wide departure from the established rules of legal procedure to give consideration to any evidence not introduced upon the hearing; to do so would be to receive evidence out of court in the absence of the adverse party, and it is unnecessary to determine in this case the effect of a request by the daughter of Mrs. Werley for the appointment of any person as administrator; she was duly notified of the application for letters made by both Mr. Potter and Mr. Werley: she made no application for letters in her own right, and her request for the appointment of another made after the hearing upon the test and petitions, comes too late and can be entitled to no consideration. This contest must be decided upon the evidence introduced upon the hearing, and it is ordered that letters issue to the public administrator in accordance with the law.

Date February 5, 1910.

FRED V. WOOD,
Judge.

Examination for Census Enumerators.

The examination of applicants for the positions of census enumerator in Amador county was held by postmaster F. A. Duden in the supervisor's room, Jackson, last Saturday afternoon. There were twelve who had sent applications for the positions to the supervisor of census matters in this district, L. L. Dennett of Modesto. Of these, however, only seven appeared to take the examination—just enough to fill the number of enumerators assigned to this county. The applicants were Jas. Jay Wright, W. K. McFarland, Wm. Hanley, and Miss M. E. McCaskey, all of Jackson; A. Prouty of Lone, E. Smith of May; Miss I. Hardy of Amador. There were no applicants from townships 3 and 5.

The examination was a simple affair, and consisted of filling in the requirements of a couple of census blanks compiled for the purpose. The examination papers were forwarded to supervisor Dennett at Modesto. The outcome will be known in a few days.

New Method of Assessment Work

Assessor Jarvis has adopted a new method of operations in doing the field work in assessing property. Heretofore it has been necessary to do a lot of copying and this has a large measure been saved by the improved method. He has been in various counties, and has taken notes of the plan of assessing in other counties, and from these he has compiled the system which he has put in practice for the first time this year. The assessment blanks are not nearly so complicated as formerly. They consist merely of one sheet, instead of a small booklet of 16 pages as heretofore. He has provided two binders of the loose leaf pattern. When the assessment of the township is completed the lists are alphabetically arranged, and the book becomes a permanent record. It is economical and easily kept, and a decided improvement over the system heretofore in vogue. The plan was submitted to the state board of equalization before being put into practice, and was approved by that body.

Yet you may cough tomorrow! Better be prepared for it when it comes. Ask your doctor about keeping Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Then when the hard cold or cough first appears you have a doctor's medicine at hand. Your doctor's approval of its use will certainly set all doubt at rest. Do as he says. He knows. Spohr and the Violin.
Louis Spohr, the greatest of all German violinists and a man whose name is otherwise indelibly written on the pages of musical history, was born at Brunswick on April 5, 1784, just fifteen days after his great contemporary and rival, Nicolo Paganini, first saw the light of the world. Two greater contrasts than these two men could not be imagined. Paganini, the brilliant, dazzling, comet-like apparition, overawed the masses, for whose favor he made a high bid, while the German, the serious, dignified, deep artist, appealed to the connoisseurs and cultured musicians. Spohr both by precept and example exerted a tremendous influence on violin playing and violin composition and, in fact, on composition in general. The greatest musicians of his day stood in awe of him, and even Richard Wagner, after Spohr had produced "The Flying Dutchman" at Cassel in 1843, where he was then conductor of the opera, in a letter written to the great violinist displayed a sense of gratitude of which in later years he seemed incapable. Spohr died at Cassel in 1859.—Argonaut.

Tit For Tat.
A newspaper man who called on a local manufacturer the other day to pay a friendly visit found the latter in no mood for friendly calls. He was in a white heat.

"What's the matter?" asked the visitor. "You don't seem pleased to see me."

"Oh, I would be pleased to see you," said the other. "If I wasn't so mighty mad at the meanest piece of petty holdup I ever saw. Here's a check from a fellow who owed me a bill for ninety days, and darned if he hasn't mailed the check at last and subtracted the 2 cents for the postage stamp that brought the letter."

"Can you beat that?" exclaimed the visitor as he eyed the check.

"I can," said the other as he reached for a telegraph blank. "I am going to wire him a receipt in full, and I'll wire it collect."—Newark Call.

Supreme Court Ways.
When the supreme court of the United States assembles at 12 o'clock on each Monday the room is filled with lawyers, clerks, newspaper men and spectators. Routine announcements are made by the chief justice in a voice no one can understand. Decisions of great moment are rendered by other justices in mumbled words which are not heard. Lawyers, clerks, newspaper men and spectators stare hard at the honorable justice who may be talking or reading, some with hands curved into a round board so that they can catch a few words if possible. But no one in the courtroom shouts "Louder!" No one would last very long if he did. And should a person be sentenced for contempt of the supreme court it would be the end. As an old colored employee once said, "Dere ain't no appeal from dis cote."—St. Louis Star.

Swallowed and Climbed.
A woman newly rich was invited to an aristocratic dinner party. During the course of fowl and salad this woman noticed with dismay a fat, furry caterpillar on her topmost leaf of lettuce. Glancing up, she met her aristocratic hostess' eye. The hostess, too, had seen the caterpillar. Her gaze implored the guest to save the dinner from catastrophe. The guest gave her hostess a reassuring smile. Then she doubled a lettuce leaf around the caterpillar and swallowed it calmly. The look of awe and gratitude that her hostess gave her was an assurance that her footing in society was at last firmly established.

"Did you think," said Mrs. Newly-rich to her daughter afterward, "that I'd lose a chance of establishing the family socially for a little thing like a caterpillar?"

Spanish Surnames.
In addition to three or four Christian names the Spanish child bears the combined family names of his father and mother. When the surnames are doubled or connected by the y, meaning "and," the first is the more important one and the only one that may be taken alone, for it is in the father's name, while the last is in the name of the mother. In Spain they know no "senior" and "junior." Father and son may bear the same Christian name, but each takes his own mother's name as a distinction, the father being, for instance, Pedro Diaz y Castillo and the son Pedro Diaz y Blanco.

O'Connell's Big Head.
Thackeray was six feet two inches in height, and Sir H. W. Lucy says the great novelist wore a seven and five-eighth inch hat, beating Dickens and John Bright by a full half inch. Mr. Gladstone's hat was of seven and three-eighth inch measurement—the same as Macaulay's—while Beaconsfield needed a full seven inch. The hat of Daniel O'Connell, however, would have beaten them all, measuring eight and one-half inches by ten inches.

Unreasonable.
She—I don't see why you should hesitate to marry on $3,000 a year. Papa says my gowns never cost more than that. He—But, my dear, we must have something to eat. She (petulantly)—Isn't that just like a man? Always thinking of his stomach.—Boston Transcript.

Why?
When a mother tells her boy he is getting to be just like his father he knows well that it is not intended as a compliment.

In Awful Shape.
"Why don't you go to work?"
"I'm so dead tired of doing nothing that I'm too tired to do anything."—Cleveland Leader.

Simply a Man Hunt.
"I declare!" shouted a bellboy in one of the big downtown hotels as he dashed into the lobby.

"I declare!" he shrieked again, or at least it sounded like that.

An irascible old gentleman whose eardrums were jarred by the shrill screech wheeled about and glared at the boy.

"I declare!" he piped louder than before.

"Well, what's the answer?" demanded the old man gruffly.

"I declare!" came the shrill reply.

"Oh, you do, eh?" snorted the old fellow. "Well, why the deuce don't you?"

The bellboy cast a withering glance at him, gazed searchingly about the room and emitted a shrill "Declare!"

"Say," exclaimed the old chap, coloring the boy, "what the dickens is wrong with you, anyway? Are you going crazy?"

"Naw, I ain't goin' crazy," replied the brass buttoned one. "I got a telegram for 'em; that's all. Aw, look fer yerself!" exclaimed the boy disgustedly as he shoved the yellow envelope under the old fellow's nose. It was addressed "I. D. Chair."

"Well, I declare!" gasped the old man weakly as he sank into his seat.—Pittsburg Gazette.

Show Windows In Austria.
The Austrian shopkeeper takes great pride in having his window dressed in an attractive manner and the glass perfectly clean at all times, no matter how small the shop or how small the city. Frequently the greater part of the stock of merchandise is displayed in the windows of the smaller shops. It is much less difficult to make attractive displays than in American stores, as windows open outward on hinges. Even heavy plate glass windows ten to fifteen feet square are so arranged and dressed from the street instead of from the inside, as in America. The large windows are usually arranged in the morning before many pedestrians are on the street. The wall space between shops is frequently rented by owners of adjoining stores and arranged to appear like windows, giving the appearance of being a large shop. When one wishes to examine an article displayed in a window the proprietor or clerk goes to the street with a key, unlocks the window and takes out the article, then locks his window again.

The Only Difference.
Clorinda was as black as night and of heroic proportions, but in every possible way she copied her slender young mistress, for whom she had a great admiration. "I like to look jes' as much like you as I can," she often said. "'cause you looks jes' like a lady orter look, Mis' Hend'son."

Clorinda intrusted all her shopping to Mrs. Henderson and scorned the bright colors and pronounced styles affected by her own friends. One day she asked her mistress to buy her a pair of low shoes. As she made the request she glanced with admiration at the slim little foot showing beneath the edge of a dainty skirt.

"An' I want 'em jes' exactly like yours, Mis' Hend'son," said Clorinda. "No difference 'ceptin' dey's gotter be wide nines, so maybe de buckle might 'pear better if 'twas a twenty mile larger'n yours."—Youth's Companion.

Father's Method.
During a recent slight illness the five-year-old Teddy, usually so amiable, flatly and obstinately refused to take his medicine. After a somewhat prolonged and ineffectual argument with him his mother at last set the glass of medicine down, leaned her head on her hands and "played" that she was crying. A moment passed, and the tender hearted Teddy, unable longer to bear the sight of his mother's stricken attitude, inquired, "What's the matter, mother, dear?" Without removing her hands from her eyes she replied, "I'm grieved that my son won't take his castor oil for me." Whereupon Teddy sat up in bed and offered consolingly: "Oh, I wouldn't feel bad if I were you, mother, dear. Father will be home soon, and he'll make me take it."—Delineator.

Bunching the Hits.
A legal journal tells a story of an Illinois attorney who argued to the court one after another a series of very weak points, none of which seemed to the court to have any merit until the court finally said, "Mr. —, do you think there is anything in these points?" To which the attorney replied, "Well, judge, perhaps there isn't much in any one of them alone, but I didn't know but your honor would kind of bunch them."

Had Authority.
A case was being tried before the late Lord Young, "Crabbe versus Crabbe."

"I may explain, my lud," said the advocate, "that my client Crabbe is a nephew of our opponent Crabbe, but a few years ago he dropped the 'I' in his name for the sake of euphony."

"Ah," replied Lord Young, "he has Biblical authority for that—'If thy 'I' offend thee, pluck it out.'"—Westminster Gazette.

Different Now.
"They say his wife was the inspiration of some of his best plays."

"Yes; he produced them before he was married."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Significant.
Tom—Do you think your father dislikes me? Tess—Well, he gave the dog's chain and muzzle away yesterday.

It were endless to dispute upon everything that is disputable.—Penn.

Matching the Braid.
After ten years he returned, footsore and weary. His wife met him at the door.

"I thought you were dead," she told him.

"You should have known better than that," he said. "Do you remember that last piece of net I tried to match for you? You scolded because there was a difference of an eighth of an inch in the width of the folds, and I vowed that I would never again return from matching anything for you until I had found the exact thing you wanted."

He handed her a package.

"Here is that old rose binding braid that you told me to buy. I found it last Monday in Billings, Mont. I have looked for it in thirty-seven states."

She tore off the wrappings.

"It is a little too dark," she said.

"But the sample has faded some in ten years," he reminded her.

"It is a little too heavy besides."

"But handling by thousands of clerks has worn the sample away some. It was heavier when I started out."

"I suppose I can make it do," she said.—Newark News.

Her Dime.
Somebody had given the east side woman a bad dime. It was composed largely of lead. She tried to pass it at several places, but they are wary for some reason or other on the east side. They invariably ring a dime on the counter once or twice and bite it besides. When she got home with the dime it had several holes in it from the pressure of east side teeth. "It is more impossible than ever," she said.

The impecunious man called that evening. He had a dollar with him which was wholly intact—that is to say, it had not been broken.

"I am afraid they'll give me bad money for it," he said upon taking his departure, "over here in these east side cars. Will you change it for me?"

"I shall be delighted," said she.

He called a week later with a groch.

"You can't seem to get away from the bad money over here on your old east side," he complained. "Somebody or other stung me with an old lead dime that was full of holes."—New York Press.

Convincing the Waiter.

"I have learned how to make the foreign waiters in the restaurants where I eat think I have lived in Europe all a lifetime," said a woman who never dines at home. "I dawdle over my dinner twice as long as anybody else in the place. It requires no effort for me to do that. By nature I eat in the same leisurely manner that I do everything else. Most of my compatriots bolt their food. As a consequence the foreign waiters who are used to leisurely dining regard them with amazed horror."

"Ah, those Americans!" they exclaim. "Some day they choke. But as for madame—meaning me—well, madame is different. Madame nibbles, she sips, she lingers; therefore she is not as those of common American clay. It takes madame never less than two hours to eat her dinner. That marks her as one of the European elect."—New York Globe.

Some Odd Spelling.

Americans, says the London News, employ the word "Britisher," which they invented, in a contemptuous sense. It was a certain Philadelphia wit who is said to have asked his friends what a "Britisher" would mean to convey by the written word "ghoughphtheight-teau." He had to explain to them that, according to the genius of the English language, it meant "potato." Thus: Gh—p, as in "hiccough;" ough—o, as in "dough;" phth—t, as in "pthlisis;" elgh—n, as in "neighbor;" te—t, as in "gazette," and eau—o, as in "bean." This was at least as puzzling as the lively stable keeper's bill which contained the two lines—

Aosafada
Atacnionimomgin.

Nobody who does not "know the answer" has ever yet arrived at the solution, which is, in the vernacular of the creditor himself, "A 'oss ag' day" and "A-takin' on 'im 'ome ag'in."

Unappreciated Efforts.

Unselfish goodness is seldom appreciated in this world of ours. There was that man in the electric car, for instance. Having rung up three fares in his efforts to stop the car for the lady that sat on the opposite side, he tossed after her the umbrella that belonged to the little gray whiskered man on his right. Neither the gray whiskered man nor the conductor liked the thoughtful Samaritan for his altruistic efforts.—Boston Transcript.

There Are Better Seats.

"He is now, they say, on the very pinnacle of fame, and yet he isn't exactly in comfortable circumstances."

"That's not surprising. Did you ever sit on a pinnacle of any sort?"—Brooklyn Citizen.

The Better Way.

"Awfully rude of him to throw a kiss at me."

"Yes, my dear; those are things which always ought to be delivered in person."—Illustrated Bits.

What He Found.

"He went into the country to find solitude."

"Did he find it?"

"No; quite the opposite. He sat down on an ant hill."

Cunning.

Deemster—Whenever I have to borrow money I try to get it from a pessimist. Fieldman—Why? Deemster—A pessimist never expects to get it back.—Life.

Amador County Descriptive Article

Amador county comprises an area of 548 square miles. It lies on the western slope of Sierra Nevada mountains, and embraces within its territory all the diversity of valley, foothill, and high mountainous lands.

Climate.—The climate of the populous portions of the county is as genial and healthful as can be found anywhere in California. As climate is one of the most valuable assets of this favored state in attracting population, Amador stands second to no county in this regard. It should, and no doubt will in time, when its climatic advantages are more thoroughly understood and appreciated, become a health resort not only for those in less favored states, but for the residents of other parts of California. The temperature along the central portion rarely falls below 30 degrees above zero in winter, and as rarely rises to 100 degrees in the summer. Snow seldom falls in the settled districts, and never remains on the ground for more than a few hours. Of course, in the high mountain regions of eastern Amador the snowfall is very heavy—which is characteristic of the entire Sierra Nevada range. The summer season is always accompanied with cool nights; permitting of sound, refreshing slumber. Fogs are rare, cyclones are unknown, thunderstorms are infrequent.

Gold Mining.—The county, although rich in other sources of wealth, comparatively untouched, is noted principally for her quartz mines. The deepest gold mines in America are located here. The Kennedy mine is now taking gold in liberal quantities from quartz extracted from a depth of over 3000 feet below the surface, with every indication that the pay-ore extends to a much greater depth. Since the discovery of gold, the county has contributed fully $100,000,000 to the world's supply of the precious metal. The mines are still yielding at the rate of about two million dollars annually. Nearly all of this wealth is produced by eight or ten mines operating on what is called the "mother lode," stretching clear across the county in a north-easterly direction a distance of twenty miles. The mines aggregate between 400 and 500 stamps, and furnish employment for over 1000 miners. This industry is still in its infancy. The unexplored territory, even along the main gold belt, is far in excess of the ground that has actually been worked or prospected. The county offers today one of the most inviting fields to be found anywhere in the world for the investment of capital in the fascinating business of gold mining, not alone along the mother lode, but also in the almost untouched mineralized country of the east belt, some ten or twelve miles from the main lode.

Besides gold, we have copper, deposits of pottery, coal, marble, slate, limestone, granite, and soapstone or talc—all undeveloped.

Agricultural Capabilities.—The agricultural possibilities equal, if not excel, the mineral riches. The valley lands will produce anything that can be grown in the most favored sections. In the foothill lands all kinds of deciduous fruits thrive; also all kinds of vegetable are raised where irrigation is practicable along the numerous water courses. Further up in the mountains, at an altitude of 2000 to 2500 feet, the soil is admirably adapted for apples and potatoes. A ready market for many times the quantity now raised of these commodities can be found in the various mining towns.

Grape culture and winemaking are becoming important industries, both the grapes and wine commanding a better price than the product of the lowland.

Land is cheap compared with other California lands. Improved farms may be secured for one-fourth the price current in some places. Unimproved lands can be had from $5 to $10 per acre. It does not require a fortune to buy a small ranch. There is room for a large addition to our agricultural population. Vast tracts now devoted to cattle ranges might be made the homes of hundreds of prosperous farmers.

Amador has a population of less than 12000. Three fourths of this is concentrated in a strip of three miles above and below the mineral belt.

Jackson, the county seat, has about 2500 inhabitants, and is an incorporated city of the sixth class. Other towns are Sutter Creek, Amador City, Drytown, Plymouth, Volcano, Pine Grove and Oleta. Ione City is the metropolis of the valley section, a thriving town of 1000 inhabitants.

The community is law abiding. Educational facilities are excellent. A schoolhouse is within easy reach of nearly every family. There is one high school, located at Ione.

The assessment roll for 1909 is $5,500,793, and the tax rate for both state and county purposes $2 on the $100.

The Southern Pacific has a branch railroad running to Ione. From this point the Ione and Eastern railroad extends 14 miles further to the mining section.

The various religious denominations and fraternal organizations are well represented.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

The question of education along more practical lines is seriously agitated. We boast of our school system, and it certainly is the most liberal to be found in the world. But the question is does it accomplish in fitting the graduates for the practical duties of life, anything like what it ought to accomplish—anything commensurate with the amount of money expended. Does it tend to properly equip the pupil for self-support and the duties of adult life. It is said that the mistaken notion prevails among parents that the education of their children should be to enable them to live without work. If this idea exists among parents, it must also permeate the minds of children also. Unfortunately the same spirit is fostered, rather than discouraged, by legislatures. Anti-child labor laws are thought to be all right for the protection of youth of both sexes. This naturally creates an impression in the mind that it is wrong to work, and the reverse of the proposition is the logical sequence, namely, that it is right to be indolent. Habits of industry are discouraged during the critical period when life habits are in process of formation. It now begins to dawn upon educators that there must be something radically amiss with a system that sanctions this. The main object of the education of the young should be to create a liking, a taste for work—which simply means a thirst for knowledge. The education that fails to do this is faulty at the most vital point. We hear much about the completion of education with the free training afforded in the common and higher schools. The real truth is that such instruction should be regarded as the introduction to life-long education. The move to unite the common school education with other work of a manual character after the child reaches the age of 12 or 13 years seems to hold out the promise of counteracting the pernicious effect of the no-child-labor nonsense.

Dog Law In Constantinople.

"When one of the street dogs of Constantinople gets too old to be of use to the band the captain dog decides that he is to die," says Albert Bigelow Paine in Harper's Weekly. "A day comes when the captain issues an edict that he is no longer to have food. From that day until his death not a morsel passes his lips. With longing eyes he looks at the others eating, but he makes no attempt to join them. Now and again a bit of something falls his way. The temptation is too strong—he reaches toward the morsel. The captain, who overlooks nothing, gives a low growl. The dying creature shrinks back without a murmur. He knows the law. Perhaps he, too, was once a captain. The minister's wife told me that she had tried to feed one of those dying dogs, but that even when food was placed in front of him he would only look pleadingly at the captain and refuse to touch it."

How They Get 'Em.

The sad looking man climbed into the bootblack's chair to have his shoes shined. "And is your father a bootblack, too?" he asked, by way of making conversation. "No, sir," replied the lad. "My father is a farmer." "Ah, a farmer!" cried the sad looking man as a spasm almost akin to joy spread over his features. As he reached into his pocket for a notebook and pencil he began to mumble a sort of gibberish. It sounded like this: "Farmer, hey? Farmer—hay. Son, bootblack. Son shines. Ah! I have it. Your father evidently believes in making hay while the sun shines." Perhaps it is needless to explain that instead of being a mild lunatic the sad looking man was one of those professional humorists who write funny pieces for the papers.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Laughter Saved the Ship.

Humor has been credited with the saving of many things, but perhaps never before has a ship been saved by its judicious application. In a great storm many years ago a ship's crew were all at prayers when a boy burst into a fit of violent laughter. Being reproved for his ill timed mirth and asked the reason for it, he said, "Why, I was laughing to think what a blessing the boatswain's red nose will make when it comes in contact with the water." This ludicrous remark set the crew laughing, inspired them with new spirits, and by a great exertion they brought the vessel safely into port.—Liverpool Post.

Two Narrow Escapes.

An Irishman, seeing a vessel very heavily laden and scarcely above the water's edge, exclaimed, "Upon my soul, if the river was but a little higher the ship would go to the bottom!" "See there!" exclaimed the returned Irish soldier to the gaping crowd as he exhibited with some pride his tall hat with a bullet hole in it. "Look at that hole, will ye! Ye see, if it had been a low crowned hat I should have been killed outright!"

His Temper.

"My dear," said a lady to her husband, "there must be a lot of iron in your system." "Why do you think so?" "Because you invariably lose your temper when you get hot!"

Discoveries.

So many famous discoveries have turned out to be re-discoveries that we become cautious about asserting that any event or achievement was the first of its kind.—John Diske.

The Limestone Deposits

Some weeks ago we mentioned that parties from Jackson and Ione visited the limestone deposits in the vicinity of Mt. Echo with the view of organizing a company to market this mineral, should the quantity and quality of the rock warrant the expense involved in the undertaking. Two men were thereafter put to work to open up the deposit lying nearest to the Amador Central railroad, which is distant one mile south of the place selected for operations. These men—J. E. Wilson and L. A. Gebhardt—have been working on this proposition for over two weeks, tapping the limestone formation at different points so as to secure fair samples, with the object of having the same practically tested as to lime making qualities. The mountain side was found to be of solid limerock, and a sufficient cut was made into the deposit to satisfy the promoters that the quantity is practically inexhaustible. Samples were brought to Jackson this week and placed in the report of the gas works. When taken out the rock was lime of the finest quality, said to be equal to the product made in any part of the state. The two men are still at work and will test a marble deposit that crops out near by the limestone. It is the intention to get average samples of limestone and ship to parties who are large consumers for the purpose of a practical test. Should everything prove satisfactory the organization of the company will be pushed ahead, with the view of running a spur track from the Amador Central to the quarry, thereby providing ample transportation facilities. The enterprise promises much from an industrial standpoint.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Arsenic.

Arsenic is mined in Japan, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Germany, England and, within a limited area, in the United States. Its uses are many. As a poison it has been known from very early times. The peasant women of Austria consume large quantities of it, having faith in its virtues as a beautifier, and the men of the same region are addicted to its use in the mistaken belief that it increases their bodily strength and endurance.

Noblesse Oblige.

"What are you staring at, Nellie?" "Oh, please, ma'am, with your hair like that and your diamonds you do look so like Lady Plantagenet Gingham that I was own maid to! Are you any relation, ma'am?" "No—at least no near relation. But you can have that pink silk waist of mine, Nellie!"—Life.

An Effort to Console.

"Yes," said Mrs. Flummerton, "my ancestors were among the country's first settlers." "Well," answered Mrs. Cumrox consolingly, "the social and educational facilities in those days must have been rather crude, but I don't believe in heredity."—Washington Star.

Foolish Question.

"Some one stole every blessed stocking off our line." "What are blessed stockings?" "Those which are not darned, of course."—Exchange.

Blind Justice.

We meet our philosophical friend and observe that he is smiling contentedly. "What has gone wrong now?" we ask.

"Nothing has gone wrong," he explains. "Something went right. Spriggins owed Hennett $10,000 and put his property in his wife's name so that Hennett couldn't collect." "But that isn't anything unusual." "And last night Mrs. Spriggins eloped with Hennett!"—Life.

Uncertainty.

"I am always horribly nervous when I buy a suit of clothes from a strange tailor." "Yes; a person you don't know is hard to stand off."—Houston Post.
